

The Benefits of Dormant Oil Sprays

Damaging pests can overwinter on plants and can quickly become difficult to manage as it warms up in the Spring. Scale insects, Aphids and Spider Mites in particular may be best controlled with a preventative Dormant Oil spray in early spring.

When sprayed in late winter or early spring just before plants leaf out, Dormant Oil can be very effective in controlling Scale insects, Aphids and Mites. When applied correctly by a Plant Care Specialist, Dormant Oil is one of the safest pest management options, and will overwhelm these insects providing protection for plants without damaging them.
